

Pat McQuaile was elected to the Teaching Council in the Leinster (Vocational) constituency. Pat is a member of the Executive Committee and Disciplinary Committee. A native of Drogheda, Pat graduated from UCD in 1973 and teaches History at St. Oliver's Community College in his home town. Pat lists "working with other committed members" as the most enjoyable aspect of his role on the Council. His educational interests include holistic education and equality of access and his vision for the Council is that it will represent the professional interests of teachers and attract the support of teachers and the wider public and society.
