

Seán Rowley was elected to the Teaching Council in the Connacht/Ulster (Primary) constituency. Seán is Chairperson of the Registration Committee and is a member of the Executive Committee and the Primary Applications Panel. He lives in Ballina, Co Mayo and is a former President of the INTO.

Seán sees many substantial achievements by the Council since establishment but says the major challenge in the months ahead will be to convince teachers to engage with the Council and see themselves as part of a regulated profession controlling their own professional affairs as is the norm in other professions.
