

Dr Seán Rowland is a Ministerial nominee to The Teaching Council. Seán is a member of the Executive and Disciplinary committees. Originally from Castlebar, County Mayo, Seán is a graduate of St Patrick's College, Drumcondra. He also studied in Boston College and Harvard University in the USA. He is founder and President of Hibernia College in Dublin. He aims to support a professional Teaching Council which expects the highest levels of teaching, learning and research while being mindful of the principles regarding respect and professional behaviour. He believes the Council should strive to be an efficient body working to a transparent schedule.