

Susie Hall was elected to the Teaching Council in the Community and Comprehensive sector. She is a member of the Education Committee. A graduate of UCD and TCD, Susie recently retired as Assistant Principal and Year Head from Malahide Community School. She is a member of the General Synod Board of Education and the Board of Management of St. Andrews Church of Ireland National School, Malahide. She is also a member of the School Implementation Group of the National Educational Welfare Board and the State Examination Commission's Working Group on Oral and Practical Examinations. She is a former President of the ASTI. Her educational interests include modern languages, transition year and school leadership. Her hopes for the Council are that it will achieve a high level of public confidence and that every teacher in the country will feel a real benefit in their professional life from the existence and work of the Teaching Council.
