Chairperson – Tomás Ó Ruairc

Tomás is Director of the Teaching Council since 2012 and will be chairing this evening's webinar.

Panellist – Marie-Therese Kilmartin

Marie-Therese (@mariettk) is Principal of Coláiste Bríde, Clondalkin, an all-girls post-primary school with 970 students. She is currently a member of executive of the National Association of Principals and Deputy-Principals (NAPD) and a Council member of the JMB/AMCSS.

She is a leadership associate with the Centre for School Leadership, PDST and JCT as well as being a tutor on the Post-Graduate Diploma in School Leadership.

Panellist – Martin McNamara

Michael is the PDST's Team Leader for Digital Technologies and is seconded from Cregmore National School in Co. Galway. He joined the PDST as an advisor in 2016 supporting teachers and school leaders to embed digital technologies into their teaching, learning and assessment practices.

He was appointed Team Leader for Digital Technologies in 2018 and now leads a cross-sectoral team of primary and post-primary PDST advisors who work throughout the country in supporting schools to effectively embed digital technologies into their pedagogical practice.

Panellist – Jack Kennedy

Jack is a 5th year student in the CBS, Ennistymon, Co. Clare. He has a keen interest in Religion and Art.

This is Jack's second webinar, having taken part in a webinar earlier this year on BEACONS – Bringing Education Alive for our Communities on a National Scale.

Panellist – Danielle Conaty

Danielle is a post-primary teacher of Home Economics and Biology in St. Clare's Comprehensive, Manorhamilton, Co. Leitrim. She works as a part-time whole school associate with JCT and is a subject contributor to Scoilnet.

She is a member of her school's Digital Learning Framework team and an active member of the Association of Teachers of Home Economics (ATHE).

Panellist – Áine Lynch

Áine, a qualified general and paediatric nurse, is CEO of the National Parents Council Primary.

Prior to this, she worked with the ISPCC as the Childline Manager and finally as Director of Services.

Áine is currently appointed to the National Council for Curriculum and Assessment (NCCA) and the National Council for Special Education (NCSE).
